

Veterans Going Back To School

More than a half million of Veterans Affairs, revealed veterans expected to enter colleges and universities throughout the country. Driver predicted an even more successful program in 1968, with well over 600,000 veterans during 1967 saw 323,000 students on campuses, but that figure is certain to be exceeded during the coming year, Driver said. THE AVERAGE veteran was 28 years old and nearly 50 per cent had one or more dependents. Some 76 per cent of the veterans entered courses at the college level compared to about 80 per cent during the World War II G. I. Bill program. For 35 per cent of the students it was their first year of college, Driver said.

WITH SON . . . Press-Herald art and travel columnist Larry Macaray, now conducting an around-the-world tour, is pictured at the Taj Mahal with his son, David, who is in the Peace Corps and is stationed in Bihar. Father and son met for the first time in six months during the elder Macaray's visit to India.

... Let's Go

By LARRY MACARY

AGRA, INDIA—This is my second visit to India and it is so very different from my first one. The shock of seeing so many people enduring such undecipherable poverty now is acceptable. Beggars no longer give me a feeling of guilt—and I no longer hope for an answer to their problems.

Trying to understand their history, their culture, their "way of life" and them as individuals helps to ease the anxiety and hopelessness that one immediately feels upon entering India. Patience helps. They way is slow—very slow, and sometimes time stands still for them.

Time by our Western standards is money. Don't waste it or you throw money away. It works in our society, yet it leaves little time for anyone to really explore the hidden desires and aspirations that only time can allow to blossom. Indian time allows for meditation, enjoyment of self and others, as well as just doing nothing—as so many do.

MY SECOND visit has been a most happy one. The opportunity to see my son, David, and to be with him for a week was worth coming half-way across the world. David has been in India since last December in the Peace Corps. His work has been in tubewells, and he is showing the villagers how to maintain their water well systems.

For two months he has been working in the famine-ridden state of Bihar doing relief work along with CARE, Unicef, Oxfam, the Roman Catholic Church, and many other relief organizations. The extent of the relief work that is going on there is not generally known, but reporters and television crews from all over the world have been recording this gigantic operation so that the rest of the world can know about the extreme living conditions in this area.

ON HIS RETURN to Jullundur City, David is planning to start a family-planning program in his area. There is a

Lutherans Set Classes

Enrollment for vacation church school classes has begun at the First Lutheran Church, 1725 Flower St. A two-week session of Bible study will begin Aug. 7 and feature the theme "Living in God's Kingdom."

Classes will be from 9 a.m. until noon each week day and include handicrafts, music and Bible study.

good sized movement to educate the Indian people in family planning, but it must be presented in a powerful way—otherwise, the old tradition of having eight to ten children in the family will prevail. Their reasoning is that out of these eight to ten children, the odds will supply at least one or two males who will take care of the parents in their old age!

THE TAJ MAHAL again was exquisite to see. It does wipe out all of the disappointments of seeing people living as they do in India. Its beauty is breathtaking, whether seen by moonlight or in the full warmth of day. Its white marble reflects the long, long pools of water that extend from the arched entrance several hundred yards away to the Taj itself.

Flying into the Vale of Kashmir was a new experience for me. It's usually so overcast in the Himalayas that it isn't every day that one can fly to Srinagar in Kashmir. Seeing this absolutely lovely valley surrounded by the Himalayas is such a sight. Seeing the Gardens of Shalimar and the Garden of Love was exciting.

A BOATRIPE on Lake Dal was fun. Floating gardens where all kinds of vegetables are grown on the water supply much of the Srinagar's needs. It is such an old city and its bazaar was teeming with buyers and sellers.

We visited a noted rug factory and watched entire families—some children as young as 4 1/2 years of age—working on the looms that produce some of the finest rugs in the world.

The prices were right, too.
